Picking Your Summer Fun Place

About the Program

- What is the camp's philosophy or program emphasis?
- What is the daily schedule at the camp? Do the hours fit your work schedule? Is the program flexible about pick-up or drop-off times?
- Will the activities offered interest your child? Are there different choices each day? Do the campers have alternative choices if they choose not to participate in a certain activity? Ask questions about things that you feel are unique to your child.
- Will your child have a chance to learn new skills and work on old ones?
- Is there a difference in the programs offered for younger and older children?
- Does the daily schedule have quiet and active times, group and independent activities?
- How competitive are the camp's activities? Will the majority of the activities allow for your child to experience success?
- Discuss the program with your child, especially if this is a first-time experience.
- Is there a discount for siblings attending the same program? If financial considerations are keeping you from planning a camp experience for your child, inquire about sliding scale fees or scholarships. Don't be shy!
- Are the parents notified of field trips in advance and is parental consent required?
- How does the camp handle special needs? Ask the director about accommodations available. Is there a nurse on staff? Are special foods available for those with restricted diets?

About the Staff

- Does the staff have experience working with school-age children?
- Have they received specialized training?
- How many children does each counselor supervise? Are there enough counselors to adequately care for the children?
- Is additional staff added for field trips and other activities which call for extra supervision (swimming, for example)? Is there a lifeguard on duty at all times during water activities?
- Will someone be supervising your child at all times?
- Is anyone on the staff trained to handle medical emergencies? Are there written health, safety, and emergency rules? What is the camp's policy when a child gets sick or has an accident?
- What are the ages of the camp counselors?
- What is the background of the camp director?
- How does the staff handle behavioral or disciplinary problems?

About the Facility

- Does the camp seem safe, well-maintained, and clean (inside & out)?
- Is the outdoor area large enough for sports and activities? Is the indoor space large enough for the children in bad weather?
- Do the activity areas have enough materials and equipment to make them interesting?
- Do campers have enough space to work and play in groups as well as individually?
- Is lunch provided? If food is served during the day, is the kitchen area clean and neat? Who plans and prepares the meals?
- If the camp provides transportation, where and when are children picked up and dropped off? Will a staff member be there to supervise them? Do staff members ever ride on the bus with the campers?
- What does the camp/program fee include? Are there any extra charges?
- Are children allowed or encouraged to bring spending money?

About the Rules

- Can parents visit the camp at any time? Are there any special activities scheduled that include parents?
- What are the camp's rules about communication with children during the day?
- Are questions and comments from parents encouraged?

About the Background

- Is the camp accredited? Call the American Camping Association at (765) 342-8456.
- You may review Inspection Reports on any camp by calling the Department of Health

Special Considerations for Overnight Camps

- How far from home do you want your child to go? Do you want to be able to visit?
- Does your child want to stay overnight for two weeks or more?
- How much money do you want to spend?
- Would your child feel more comfortable with children he/she already knows or would your child like to meet new ones? Is there a friend your child would like to bring along?
- What is the food like? Ask for sample menus.
- What is the percentage of participants and staff that return each year?
- How does the staff handle campers who are homesick?

Tips to Combat Homesickness

- Combat homesickness by planning ahead. Involve everyone in selecting the camp and talk openly of the possibility of homesickness.
- Try an overnight at a relative's home.
- Learn the camp's policy on phone calls and visits before your child leaves for camp. When contacting your child don't go into great detail as they might feel they're missing something back home. Don't mention how everyone back home misses them.
- Keep in touch by giving your child a pre-addressed stamped envelope or postcard so they can keep you informed of their activities.
- Send a note to the camp so it will be there when your child arrives. It lets the young camper know that you have not forgotten them.
- Don't worry. Camp counselors are trained to recognize and deal with symptoms of homesickness.
